

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FIFTH
COMMENCEMENT

MAY 15, 2026

BROOKINGS HALL stands as the symbolic heart of Washington University, its archway serving as a doorway between the university and the St. Louis community. Constructed of red Missouri granite in the Collegiate Gothic style, “University Hall,” as it was first called, was built between 1900 and 1902 and was the administrative center for the 1904 World’s Fair.

FRANCIS OLYMPIC FIELD is named for alumnus and statesman David R. Francis. It was constructed in 1902 and first used in 1904 for the third Olympic Games, held in St. Louis. The ornamental wrought-iron gate on the east end of the field was built after the World's Fair to commemorate the 1904 Olympics, and the field is a registered historic landmark. In 2018, the sculpture "Spectacular," featuring the five interlaced Olympic rings, was installed near Francis Olympic Field, celebrating St. Louis' Olympic legacy.

THE COMMENCEMENT CEREMONY

Washington University and other American universities, public and private, follow the pattern of degree granting developed at the University of Paris, which was founded about 1100. In the early days of the University of Paris, the discipline of the students—and indeed their education—fell under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Paris who was responsible for local educational matters. While the bishop claimed supervision of curriculum and degree-granting, the university's teaching masters disagreed, believing that they were the proper judges of the qualifications of their students. As such, they demanded the right to grant degrees.

The modern commencement ceremony represents a compromise between the bishop and the teaching masters. By 1200, the masters were judging the merits of students and then recommending them to the bishop, who conferred degrees. Today's ceremony is the successor to this medieval compromise. The deans present the qualified candidates to the chancellor. Acting upon the recommendation of the faculty, the chancellor, as executive officer of the Board of Trustees, formally confers the appropriate degrees.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The academic dress worn by faculty and degree candidates originates in the clerical robes of students and teachers at the earliest medieval universities. In 1895, American colleges and universities adopted a code of academic dress that included regulating the cut and style of the gowns and prescribing colors to represent the different fields of learning. The code, which has since been updated and revised, is still in use at colleges and universities throughout the United States. The design of caps and gowns is determined by the following:

Level of degree earned: This is reflected in the design of the gown. The bachelor's degree gown has pointed sleeves, the master's degree gown has oblong sleeves, and doctoral degree gown has bell-shaped sleeves with three bars of velvet. All can be worn open or closed.

Institution granting the degree: The backs of the hoods for advanced degrees are lined with silk showing the colors of the institution granting the degree or the institution with which the wearer is connected.

Washington University's hood is lined with red and green, the school's official colors. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, which is carried forward around the throat, indicates the division of the university:

Arts & Sciences (bachelor's and master's degrees) – white

Arts & Sciences (PhD) – dark-blue

Architecture – blue-violet

Art – brown

Business – silver-beige

Engineering – orange

Law – purple

Medicine – green

Public Health – salmon

Social Policy – peacock

Social Work – citron

Continuing & Professional Studies – golden-yellow

Honorary degrees awarded by the Board of Trustees – gold

BANNERS

In addition to the coloring present in the academic dress, the division also is represented on the Commencement banners. These banners are carried by a student marshal at the head of the procession for their division. The banners are outlined in red and green, the university's colors, and the center section, which bears the shield of the university, is the color of the academic division.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

Holmes Smith, professor of drawing and history of art, developed the university seal (on the cover) in 1896. The original version, approved by the Board of Trustees in March 1897, incorporated elements of the coat of arms of George Washington, for whom the university is named, and fleur-de-lis, the symbol of King Louis IX, the patron and namesake of St. Louis. The current seal includes these same elements, as well as the university motto, "per veritatem vis" or strength through truth, which was adopted in 1915.

HONORARY GRAND MARSHAL

Susan Ekberg Stiritz

Susan Stiritz is a recently retired sexual health social worker who served on the WashU faculty for nearly 25 years.

From 2001–2013, Stiritz taught extensively in the School of Arts & Sciences, within what is now the Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Department. In 2013, she joined the Brown School faculty and quickly created the sexual health social work curricula for the Master of Social Work (MSW) program. She also developed the Brown School's Specialization in Sexual Health and Education, for which she served as chairperson until May 2025.

Stiritz traces her interest in human sexuality to formative experiences of her teen years. Her initial concerns pertained to teenage pregnancy, social stigma, and resulting high rates of mental illness and self-harm. She saw both a lack of education and social shaming as profoundly detrimental; this inspired her as an adult to address attitudes and practices regarding sexuality in the United States.

Stiritz's transdisciplinary training—she holds MSW, MBA, and PhD in literature degrees—encourages her to think broadly and playfully. She defines “the erotic” as a source of empowerment, energy, lifeforce, and social justice. She believes that if adults provide shame-free, affirmative sex and relationship education from toddlerhood through young adulthood and strive to be askable, young people will grow up with confidence and respect for self and others.

At the Brown School, she sought to provide a counterpoint to the lack of training most mental health professionals have regarding sexuality and discomfort many have about talking with clients about their bodies and intimacy. According to Stiritz, the sexual health social worker who trains at the Brown School is “someone ready and able to help individuals and couples have more pleasure and deeper intimacy; to help parents more comfortably and knowledgably talk about sex with their children; to help teens talk to each other more honestly, comfortably, and knowledgably about sex and to know how to ask for consent and how to say ‘yes’ and ‘no’ when appropriate; to help young children love their bodies and know the proper names for all the parts of their bodies; and to help older people continue enjoying sex until the end of life—and more. Without feeling comfortable talking about sex, it's difficult to confer with doctors, policymakers, other parents, and loved ones.”

Stiritz prioritized collaborating with other scholars and community activists. In 2007 she started working with Susan Appleton, the Lemma Barkeloo & Phoebe Couzins Professor of Law. They co-taught the course “Regulating Sex: Historical and Cultural Encounters” to women studies, social work, and law school students. Content from this collaboration was published in peer reviewed journals and presented at conferences locally and internationally.

In 2017, Professors Stiritz and Appleton culminated a ten-year research and advocacy effort with the publication of “Celebrating Masters & Johnson's Human Sexual Response: A Washington University Legacy in Limbo.” Past Provost Holden Thorp responded to elevate Masters' and Johnson's legacies by establishing an annual lecture in their honor.

In 2014, Stiritz began a teaching collaboration with Christopher Worth, then a disability activist at Paragad. In 2018, she began a teaching collaboration with Jaimie Hileman, Executive Director of Trans Education Service of St. Louis, LLC (TES).

From 2018–2020, Stiritz served as President of the American Association of Sexuality Educators, Counselors and Therapists (AASECT), a 67-year-old organization of sexuality professionals. During her term, AASECT's Board and membership revised the organization's by-laws to prioritize diversity, equity, and inclusion in all organizational decision-making. Following these changes and continuing social justice work, the organization doubled its membership, significantly increasing diversity and raising the level of cultural humility.

To support and elevate the Sexual Health and Education Specialization, Stiritz and her partner, Bill Stiritz, contributed two distinguished professorships to the Brown School, the Masters and Johnson Distinguished Chair of Sexual Health and Education and the Audre Lorde Distinguished Chair of Sexual Health and Education. Paz Galupo, the first holder of the Audre Lorde Chair, directs the Sexual Health and Gender Center at the Brown School. The Center emerged to provide a home for the Brown School's specialization and new sexuality research and projects going forward.

Retired since May 2025, Stiritz continues to offer Brown School students and alumni gratis supervision of their applications to become AASECT Certified Sexuality Educators.

In her retirement, Stiritz remains an avid advocate, organizer, emerita faculty member, WashU alumna, parent, and grandparent.

HONORARY DEGREE

Deborah E. Lipstadt

Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

Ambassador (ret.) Deborah E. Lipstadt is University Distinguished Professor at Emory University. From 2022–2025, she served as the U.S. State Department’s Special Envoy to Monitor and Combat Antisemitism, with the rank of Ambassador. As Special Envoy, she led efforts to advance U.S. foreign policy to counter antisemitism throughout the world. Ambassador Lipstadt has a storied career as a historian, academic, and author. Her numerous, award-winning books include Golda Meir: Israel’s Matriarch; The Eichmann Trial; Denial: Holocaust History on Trial; Denying the Holocaust: The Growing Assault on Truth and Memory; and Beyond Belief: The American Press and the Coming of the Holocaust, 1933–1945. She received the National Jewish Book Award three times, most recently in 2019 for Antisemitism: Here and Now.

Ambassador Lipstadt is probably best known for having been sued for libel by David Irving, one of the world’s leading Holocaust deniers. The case, which lasted for six years and was heard in court in a twelve-week trial, resulted in Irving being declared by the court to be “a right-wing polemicist,” who engages in antisemitism, racism, and misogyny. That trial was depicted in the 2016 film Denial, which was based on her book. She was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences (2024) and was chosen by Time Magazine as one of the 100 Most Influential People (2023). She was a historical consultant to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, helping design the section of the Museum dedicated to the American Response to the Holocaust. She has held a Presidential appointment to the United States Holocaust Memorial Council (from Presidents Clinton and Obama) and was asked by President George W. Bush to represent the White House at the anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz. She is currently writing a memoir of her time as Special Envoy.

Michael McDonald

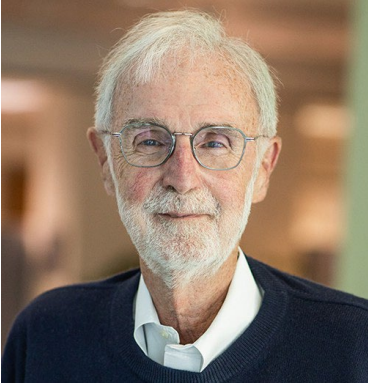

Honorary Doctor of Fine Arts

With a career that encompasses five Grammys, numerous chart successes, and personal and professional accolades, as well as collaborations with some of the world's most prominent artists, Michael McDonald remains an enduring force in popular music.

Hailing from St. Louis, McDonald arrived in Los Angeles in the early 1970s, honing his talents as a studio musician before becoming an integral part of Steely Dan. In the mid-'70s McDonald was invited to join the Doobie Brothers as the band redefined their sound with McDonald serving as singer, keyboardist, and songwriter on such Top 40 singles as "Takin' It to the Streets," "It Keeps You Runnin'," "Minute by Minute," and "What A Fool Believes." Throughout the '80s and '90s McDonald's solo career took off with a string of hits including "I Keep Forgettin' (Every Time You're Near)," "Sweet Freedom," "On My Own" (with Patti LaBelle), and the Grammy-winning James Ingram duet "Yah Mo B There," plus he co-wrote the Van Halen hit "I'll Wait." McDonald has performed with a who's-who of critically acclaimed artists across a number of genres, including Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin, Elton John, Joni Mitchell, Willie Nelson, Jackson Browne, Vince Gill, and Grizzly Bear.

In 2020, McDonald was elected to the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame as a member of the Doobie Brothers. In celebration of the group's 50th anniversary, McDonald toured with the band for the first time in nearly 25 years on an extensive run of U.S. and international dates and continues to tour with the band into 2026. Also, McDonald was inducted into the Songwriter's Hall of Fame in 2025 along with his Doobies bandmates, Patrick Simmon & Tom Johnston. In 2024, McDonald published his autobiography, What a Fool Believes, co-written with his friend and actor Paul Reiser; the book reached #7 on the New York Times Best Sellers list. This year, McDonald has the honor of being inducted into the Musicians Hall of Fame.

Marcus Edward Raichle, Sr.
Honorary Doctor of Medicine

Neurologist Marcus E. Raichle, MD, the Alan A. and Edith L. Wolff Distinguished Professor of Medicine, has served on the WashU faculty for more than 50 years.

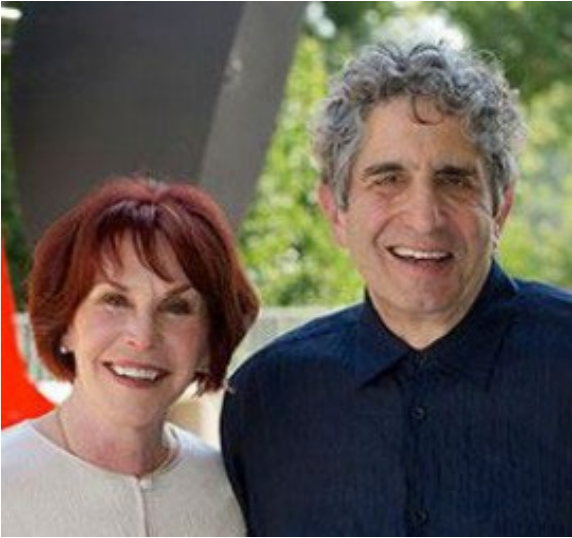

In 1964 Raichle graduated from the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle. Subsequently, he served as an intern and resident in medicine at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in Baltimore, and trained as a neurologist at the Cornell University School of Medicine in New York City, where he began his first studies of the human brain and the effect of changes in regional blood flow and metabolism with development, aging, and disease.

After serving two years as a flight surgeon in the United States Air Force at the School of Aerospace Medicine in San Antonio, Texas, Raichle joined the faculty of the Washington University School of Medicine in 1971, where he remains to this day, with appointments in Neurology and Biomedical Engineering and a place in the laboratory of Michel Ter-Pogossian in Radiology, where the focus of his work was on the use of cyclotron-produced radionuclides for the study of the human brain. The introduction of X-ray computed tomography (X-ray CT) to the medical world had an immediate effect on the work in the Ter-Pogossian laboratory which led to the development of the world's first positron emission or PET scanner using the radionuclides produced by the cyclotron in the basement of Washington University's Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology. In the course of the lab's work with PET, it was discovered that when the brain is challenged with a task (i.e., a typical neuroscience and psychology approach), there is a brisk increase in regional blood flow that exceeds the increase in oxygen consumption. This results in a rise in blood oxygen which, it turned out, has a measurable effect on the magnetic field in which this is happening. Based on this research, Raichle's friends working in magnetic resonance imaging realized an MRI would pick this up as well. This led to what is now called functional magnetic resonance imaging or fMRI. According to PubMed there are now more than 16,000 papers on the subject, providing a remarkable amount of new, unique information on the organization of the human brain. In 2014, Raichle was awarded the Kavli Prize in Neuroscience for his groundbreaking work.

HONORARY DEGREES

Anabeth C. Weil and John D. Weil
Honorary Doctor of Fine Arts

John earned his Bachelor of Arts from Amherst College and began work as a trainee at the St. Louis Union Trust Company. He remained there for ten years, rising to become Vice President for Investment Research. John then left to manage the family's investments.

Anabeth is the former Forest Park executive for the city of St. Louis, where she developed and implemented a master plan for the park's restoration. Before her work with Forest Park, she worked at Pantheon Corporation, where she was involved with the restoration of the Fabulous Fox Theatre, the Lammert Building, the Lennox Hotel, and housing in the Central West End. She earned a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Arkansas.

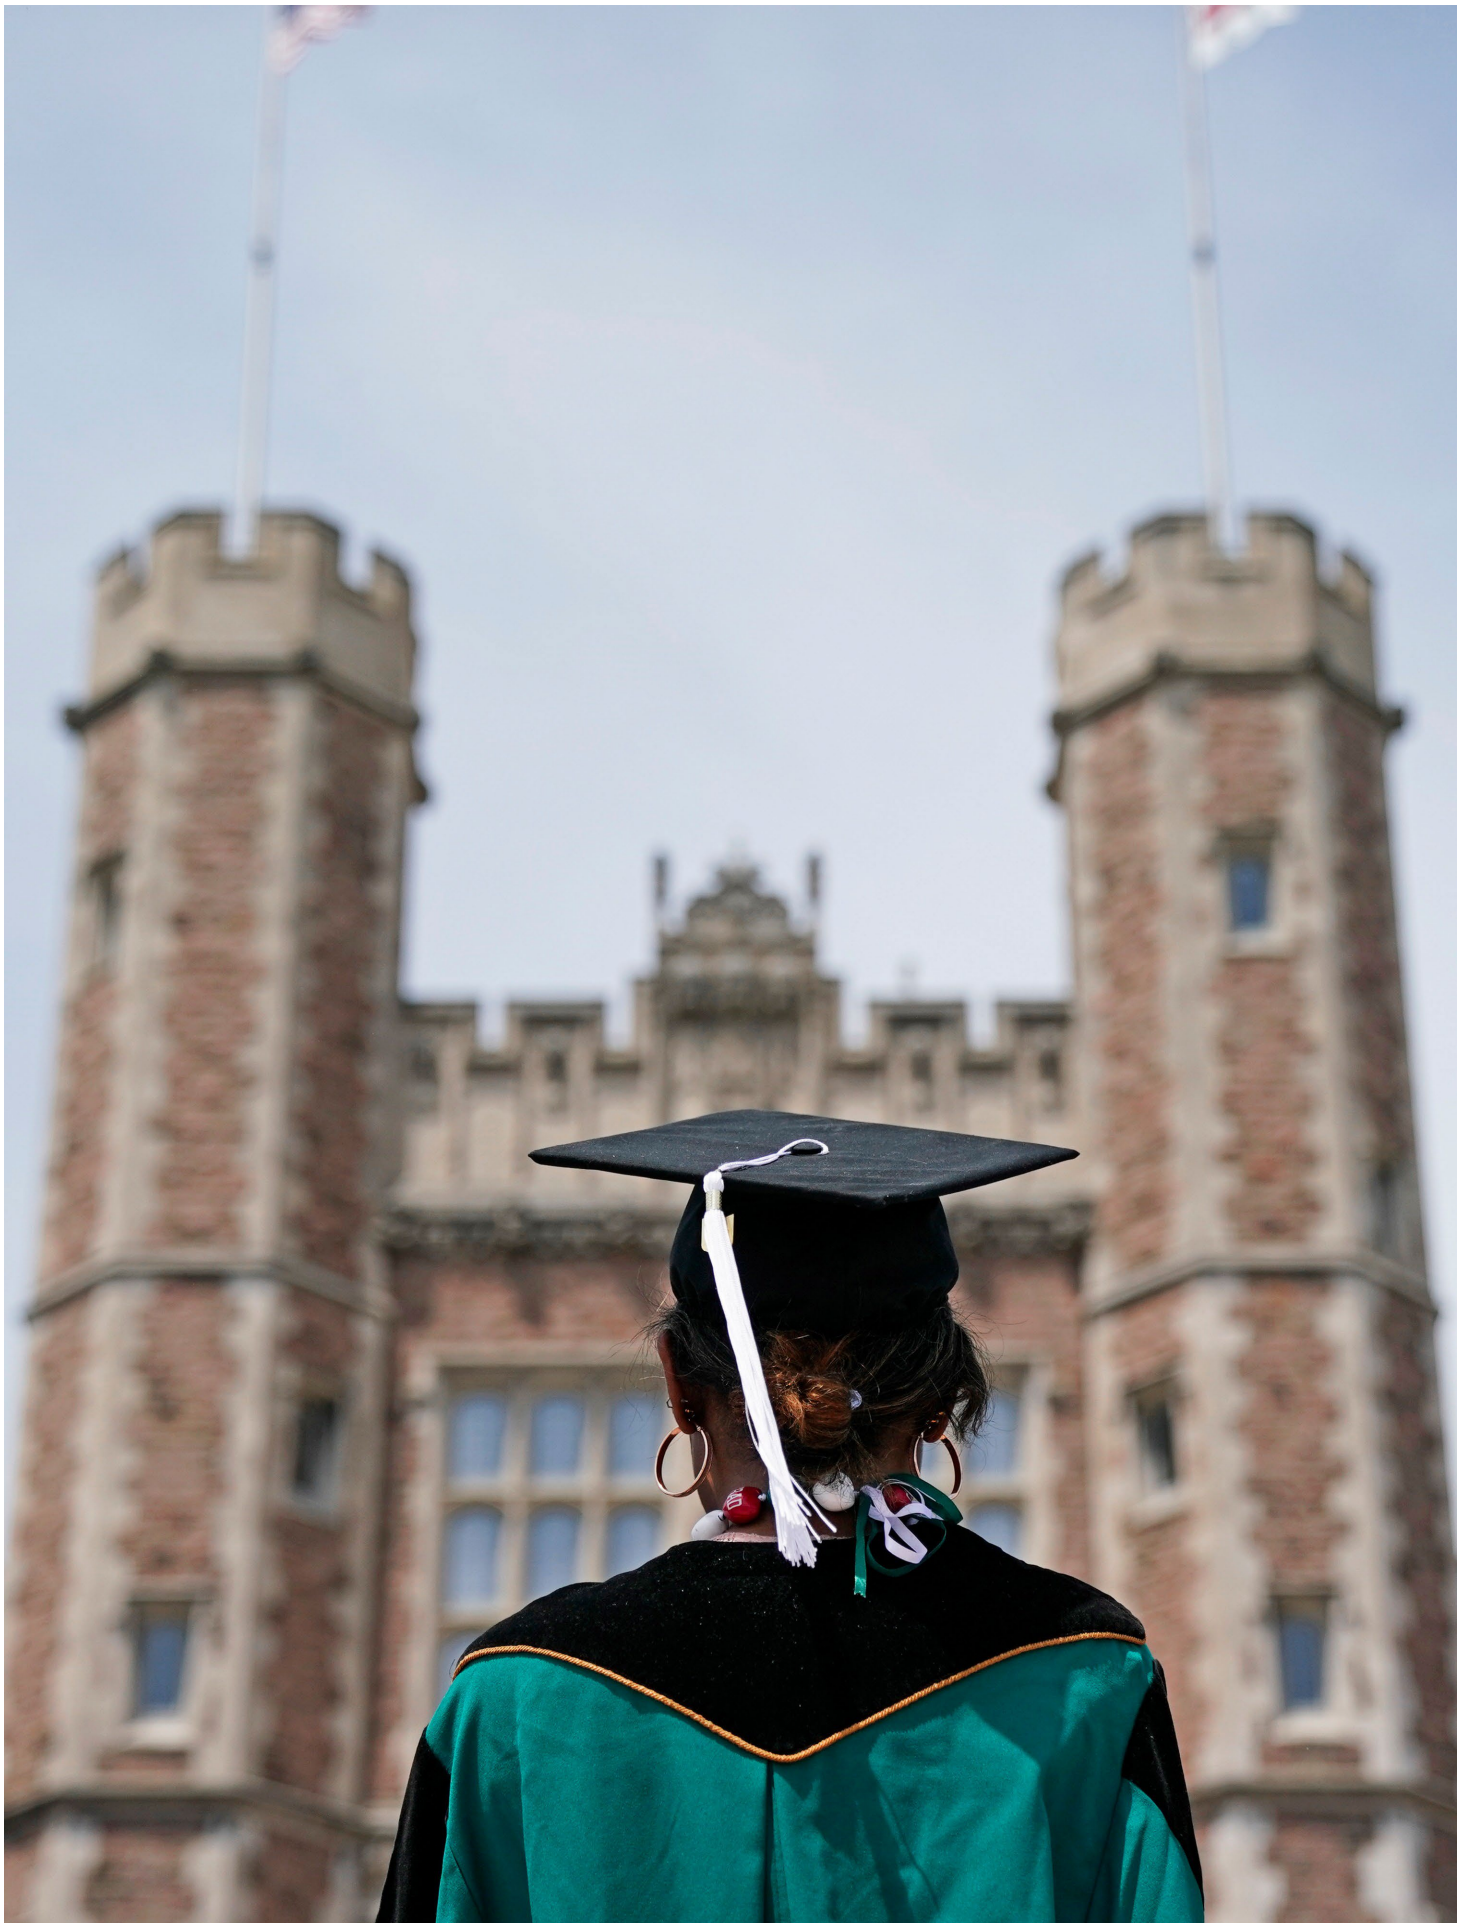

John joined the Washington University Board of Trustees in 2003 and was elected as an honorary emeritus trustee in 2013. He is a member of the Sam Fox School National Council, serving as chair from 2006 to 2019, and he is the former chair of the Architecture National Council. He previously served as a member of the Danforth Circle Eliot Society Committee.

Anabeth is a life member of the Women's Society of WashU and has been a member of the Sam Fox School National Council since 2006. She has held numerous leadership roles across the Sam Fox School and Mildred Lane Kemper Art Museum, including service on the Art Collections Committee (2006–2022), chair (2010–2019); the Women and the Kemper Board (2011–2018); and the Sam Fox School 10th Anniversary Committee (2015–2016).

Together, Anabeth and John served as co-chairs for the Sam Fox School's Leading Together campaign and as members of the campaign executive committee from 2012 to 2018. In recognition of their service and philanthropy, they received the Eliot Society Search Award in 2013, the Robert S. Brookings Award in 2014, and the Harris Community Service Award in 2016. Beyond Washington University, the Weils have supported numerous St. Louis institutions, including the Central Institute for the Deaf, New City School, Forest Park Forever, and the Saint Louis Art Museum, where they served as commissioners.

The Weils are members of the William H. Danforth Leadership Society and became charter members of the Danforth Circle Chair Level in 2026. Their philanthropy has had a lasting impact on the Sam Fox School, including naming Anabeth and John Weil Hall, the school's newest building dedicated in 2019. They also established two endowed scholarships for Sam Fox School students: the Georgia Binnington Scholarship and the John and Anabeth Weil Endowed Scholarship. Most recently, they created an endowment to support the green wall in Weil Hall's Kuehner Court and for the long-term preservation of the building.

THY HALLS SHALL HONORED BE
THROUGHOUT THIS GREAT COUNTRY
FOR ALL ETERNITY, OUR WASHINGTON.

THOSE DAYS OF YOUTH WHICH
ALL OF US SPENT WITH THEE
FORM A DEAR HISTORY,
FAIR WASHINGTON.
COULD THEY RENEWED BE,
WE'D LIVE OUR DAYS WITH THEE
FOR ALL ETERNITY, OUR WASHINGTON.

POLICIES

Bag policy: Graduates may not bring any bags of any type onto Francis Olympic Field, or into the school ceremonies. Guests are strongly encouraged not to bring bags. The only exceptions are clear plastic bags, not to exceed 14" x 14" x 4"; small clutch-type wallets or purses not to exceed 4" x 6"; diaper bags, which are allowed for those with small children, and will be inspected; as well as medically necessary equipment which will also be inspected.

Prohibited Items: To ensure the safety and comfort of graduates and their invited guests, the university has developed a list of items prohibited from its ceremonies and events. They are subject to immediate confiscation and include air horns and other artificial noisemakers; animals (except assistance animals); banners or signs larger than 2' x 3'; food and drink (except water); firearms and weapons; laser lights; balloons, glitter and confetti; unmanned aircraft or drones; explosives or fireworks.

Tobacco-Free Policy: In an effort to provide a healthy, comfortable and productive work and learning environment for students, faculty and staff, all WashU campuses are entirely smoke and tobacco free. Under the policy, smoking and the use of all other tobacco products is prohibited on the entire campus. Smoking also is prohibited inside vehicles parked in campus parking lots. This policy applies to all university community members, including visitors and those attending athletic and alumni events.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Washington University occupies the ancestral, traditional, and contemporary lands of the Osage Nation, Missouriia, Illinois Confederacy and many other tribes as the custodians of the land where we reside, occupy and call home. We recognize their sovereignty was never ceded after unjust removal and encourage your own research on tribal removal, tribal sovereignty and the history of the land you reside.
